Grand Ole Opry Star, Wife Murdered

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — The lanky "Stringbean" of the Grand Ole Opry and "Hee Haw," David Akeman, and his wife were shot to death early Sunday when they returned from a performance and apparently surprised burglars at their isolated farm home.

The bodies of Akeman, 58, and his wife, Estelle, 60, were found by another Opry star, Louis "Grandpa" Jones, who arrived just after dawn to pick them up for a fishing trip.

Akeman was sprawled on the living room floor, his wife lay in weeds about 20 yards from the red frame house that sits on a 300-acre lot at the end of a country road.

They apparently had been shot to death by burglars, police said.

"From all indications, he came home and surprised them in the act and was shot," said Detective Lt. Tom Cathey.

Akeman had been shot once. Mrs. Akeman, who apparently was in the car when her husband entered the home and fled when she heard the shot, was felled by three shots.

"We believe he had several thousand dollars on him," the detective said. "The house had been ransacked and they apparently were looking for money which Mr. Akeman, 'Stringbean,' was thought to have been carrying."

Cathey would not say what the thief or thieves made off with, but what they did not get was a priceless banjo willed to Akeman by the legendary Uncle Dave Macon. The five-string instrument was found sitting on the porch of the farm house.

Cathey said detectives were questioning four persons Sunday, but he declined to call them suspects.

He said seven bank books were found in the Akemans' three-room home. Sources said the books showed the simple-living Stringbean had salted away more than a half a million dollars.

Akeman put in what was to be his last performance at the Grand Ole Opry, which he joined in 1942, Saturday night. His wife drove him home because he did not drive.

Cathey said he believed Mrs. Akeman drove their Cadillac, although officers earlier thought they had taken the family station wagon, which was found abandoned in an old rock quarry about a mile and a half from the 300-acre farm after the slayings.

The detective said Akeman was believed to have had his money in either a bag or in the pouch of his denim overalls.

Guitarist Don Gibson said Akeman carried a pistol in the bag with his cash, but Cathey declined to speculate whether Akeman exchanged shots with his killer.

Stringbean was known to country music fans for his unique stage costume, an over-long shirt sewn to short trousers midway between his waist and knees. His banjo, sad face, pinched eyebrows and tattered straw hat completed the ensemble.

Stringbean's music career started at the age of 13 when he and a friend made a banjo. He left his home in Anneville, Ky., when he was 18 to tour with Lew Childre.

He came to the Opry in 1942 with Bill Monroe. He later joined the television series "Hee Haw" but maintained his close ties with the Opry and appeared there frequently. His humor was droll and soft spoken, and he was often a straight man for other stars' jokes.

Lasting Peace Talks May Be the Result

By United Press International

Israeli and Egyptian sources said today the historic Middle East cease-fire agreement signed in the dusty desert near the Suez Canal could lead to a climactic peace conference within weeks.

High-ranking Egyptian and Israeli generals met in a drab green tent in the desert west of the Suez Canal Sunday to sign the six-point accord worked out by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

The dramatic ceremony wrote a new page in the turbulent history of the Middle East and marked the first peace accord between the two sides in almost a quarter-century.

The six-point agreement cemented the Oct. 22 cease-fire, providing a U.N. supply corridor to encircled Egyptian troops and an exchange of prisoners.

In Nicosia, Cyprus, Red Cross planes stood by to begin the exchange. Officials said the first of an estimated 8,000 Egyptian POWs and 320 Israelis might be exchanged later today.

Israeli officials and Western diplomats in Tel Aviv said the signing of the agreement represented the first of an expected three steps toward a lasting peace.

They said the second stage will probably come with a mutual pullback of at least some Israeli and Egyptian forces straddling the Suez Canal. The third and final stage will be in the form of a high-level peace conference at a neutral site, probably within weeks.

Reports in the semi-official Egyptian press have named Geneva as the probable conference site. The Peirut newspaper, An Nahar, quoting informed diplomatic sources in Cairo, said the talks would begin Dec. 10 in Geneva.

Kissinger Meets With Mao, Chou

PEKING (UPI) — Henry A. Kissinger conferred for about two hours tonight with Mao Tse-tung at the 80-year-old Chinese leader's home after a three-hour conference with Chou En-lai.

The lengthy meetings between the legendary leader of the Chinese Revolution and the prime minister, Mao's heir apparent, fueled speculation that Kissinger's new visit to Peking would produce broadened Sino-American relations.

No details were disclosed of either meeting.

The Kissinger meeting with Mao, at the home of the elderly chairman of the Chinese Communist party on the edge of the Forbidden City, was not announced until it was under way.

No immediate word came when the meeting broke up, but with Chou which extended to reporters saw Kissinger's Red Flag limousine leave the gates of the Mao estate two hours after the reported time it started.

David K. E. Bruce, the elderly American diplomat who President Nixon selected to head the U.S. liaison office in Peking under agreement reached between Nixon and Chinese leaders during Nixon's summit trip here, accompanied Kissinger to the Mao residence.

It was the first time Bruce had met Mao.

There was speculation of possible new Sino-American agreements, at least including some additional exchange programs. Kissinger himself mentioned at one point that the United States and China were moving toward "completing the process of normalization" of relations.

Prior to seeing Mao, Kissinger held a three-hour session with Robert J. McCloskey, at about 7½ hours the total time reception in honor of Kissinger.

An Israeli correspondent in the tent said Israeli Maj. Gen. Aharon Yari, and Egyptian Maj. Gen. Mohammed Gamas-sy, sitting at a table covered with blue and gray blankets, signed the accord at exactly 3:20 p.m. Sunday.

One major point not included was the month-long Arab blockade of the Red Sea approach to the Israeli port of Elat. Israel agreed to the pact only after the United States reported a "tacit understanding" by Egypt to lift the blockade.

The six points called for:

- Egypt and Israel to observe the cease-fire scrupulously.
- The immediate start of talks to negotiate a return to positions held at the Oct. 22 start of the cease-fire.
- Suez City to get daily supplies of food, water and medicine and to be permitted to evacuate wounded civilians.
- Egyptian forces on the east bank of the Suez Canal to receive non-military supplies.
- U.N. officials to take control of Israeli checkpoints on the Cairo-Suez road, but Israel may check to make sure only non-military supplies pass through to Egyptian troops.
- An exchange of all prisoners of war.

Energy Is Major Capital Topic

WASHINGTON (AP) — With predictions of gasoline rationing coming again from the administration, the nation's energy crisis dominates this week's schedule of activity in Congress.

Three Senate committees called hearings for today on aspects of legislation requested by President Nixon to deal with the immediate problem.

The Public Works subcommittee on air and water pollution took up a bill by its chairman, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, for temporary waiver of clean-air standards to permit prompt conversion to high-sulfur fuels, such as coal.

The Senate Commerce Committee considered a bill to return the nation to daylight saving time. Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., promised committee approval Tuesday or Wednesday and possible passage by both houses of Congress by the end of the week.

The Senate Interior Committee expected to complete action by tonight on emergency legislation by its chairman, Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., incorporating most of President Nixon's energy-saving proposals.

The House, meanwhile, planned to take up today the compromise bill to expedite construction of the Alaska oil pipeline. Senate action is due Tuesday.

The forecast of gasoline rationing came Sunday from Secretary of the Interior Rogers C.B. Morton. He said on the ABC program "Issues and Answers" that rationing could be a reality in the first quarter of next year and could last up to two years.

Meanwhile, Rep. Lester L. Wolff, D-N.Y., says he has asked the General Accounting Office to look into charges that American oil companies will consider year-round daylight saving time Tuesday.

On other matters, the Senate Judiciary Committee and House Judiciary subcommittee held closed-door meetings Tuesday to consider legislation to authorize a special Watergate prosecutor to be appointed by the U.S. District Court.

The Senate Watergate Committee resumes hearings Tuesday, quizzing officials of seven companies involved in ques-

50 MPH Limit Begins At Midnight on Thruway

By United Press International

Beginning at midnight tonight, the speed limit on the 559-mile New York State Thruway will be trimmed from 65 miles per hour to 50 mph to conserve gasoline.

The State Thruway Authority announced the reduction Sunday, in line with Governor Rockefeller's earlier order setting 50 mph limits on all other state and interstate highways and parkways in New York.

Authority Chairman R. Burdell Bixby said Sunday state police would set up radar checkpoints to enforce the limit.

Anticipating the move, Thruway sign painters had begun preparing "50 mph" signs last week. Officials said it would take workmen several weeks to place the new signs over the more than 3,000 existing speed limit signs on the Thruway.

In his message Saturday, Rockefeller said troopers would begin enforcing the new limits "as soon as practically possible". He asked local government officials to trim speed limits on local roads to conform.

Rockefeller also endorsed President Nixon's request for year-round daylight savings, which would save time. The Senate Commerce Committee considered a bill to return the nation to daylight saving time. Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., promised committee approval Tuesday or Wednesday and possible passage by both houses of Congress by the end of the week.

The Senate Interior Committee expected to complete action by tonight on emergency legislation by its chairman, Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., incorporating most of President Nixon's energy-saving proposals.

Bulletin Sirica to Get Notes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon announced today he would turn over additional tapes and memoranda to Judge John J. Sirica so that the court could determine the substance of two critical presidential conversations on Watergate that the White House says were never recorded.

In a lengthy statement, Nixon expressed confidence that the new information would prove that these two conversations were never recorded (and) phone calls for June 20.

Contemporaneous notes Nixon made for his personal diary on an April 15, 1973, conversation with John W. Dean III—the other conversation subpoenaed by the court which the White House says was not recorded. Additionally, Nixon said he would make available two reels of tapes recorded of his conversations on that date which would prove that the tapes ran out before he got around to talking to Dean.

Energy Crisis Brings Early Chill

By United Press International

The fuel shortage sent many Americans to work today from cooler homes to cooler offices, in cars not supposed to go faster than 50 miles an hour and with news that a heavy gasoline tax or rationing of auto fuel is likely before long.

Two top administration energy experts said chances are good for gasoline rationing before the end of winter, and the New York Times and the Washington Post both reported the administration is considering a 40-cent per gallon gasoline tax.

But the energy crisis was not bad news for everyone. Firewood and long underwear dealers say business is booming. In Massachusetts the Brookline Ice and Coal Co. reported a run on firewood. "We've been swamped with telephone inquiries for the past four weeks and in that time our business has doubled," a spokesman said.

Two Boston area dealers said they were out of wood and "it may be weeks before we get more."

Long underwear also was in great demand. Wally Smith, a buyer for a recreational equipment store that stocks supplies of mountaineering and skiing gear, said, "A sudden run on such apparel could exhaust our stocks. Resupply took a month last year. It may take three months or more this year."

Speed Limits Lowered

In New York and New Jersey, highway speed limits were lowered to 50 miles an hour, and motorists in about a dozen other states or major cities were asked to observe the 50 m.p.h. limit voluntarily.

UPI reporters in seven states where residents have been requested to observe a 50 m.p.h. limit, said most drivers were not.

"Several people who got behind me and then had to change lanes to pass looked at me like I was some kind of nut," reported Los Angeles correspondent Jack Fox.

Robert Faulkner, regional superintendent of maintenance for Continental Trailways bus lines, responding to recent New York and New Jersey directives to reduce highway speed limits to 50 m.p.h., said diesel bus engines function at top efficiency only at speeds of 60 m.p.h. and above.

"At lower speeds it has a tendency to run cooler and less efficiently," he said.

The energy shortage has caused many communities to forego plans for bright Christmas lighting displays of years past. In New Hampshire, Gov. Meldrim Thomson suggested an old-fashioned Christmas with popcorn and cookies on trees instead of lights.

Asks Lights be Eliminated

"People can decorate their trees with popcorn, cookies and things like that, but it would be best if they held off on lighting to save electricity," Thomson said. "If you and I do not make the sacrifices necessary to conserve energy many of the workers in our factories and plants, are going to be unemployed this winter."

A number of major New Hampshire industries rely on propane gas in their processes, and it is in short supply.

The Washington Post said the White House is considering a tax of between 30 and 40 cents a gallon on gasoline to discourage excessive driving. But the paper said economists feared it would take too much spending power out of circulation.

The New York Times, in a similar report, said one option being considered is a "refundable tax" which could be returned by reducing income tax at the end of the year for motorists, or by lowering the amount withheld from paychecks.

State Power Pool Maps Its Strategy

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — The New York Power Pool, coordinating the activities of the state's eight largest utilities, will present plans later this week for conserving fuel oil.

A spokesman said Sunday the plan to "optimize a saving of fuel oil," which is burned to generate nearly half of the state's electric power, would be presented to the state Public Service Commission (PSC).

The pool's members have been studying ways to maximize the use of current water, coal and nuclear-powered generators to ease the demand on oil, the spokesman said.

As of late this summer, 46 per cent of the state's electrical capacity came from generators fired by residual oil. The rest were divided among hydro (water) power, 16 per cent; gas turbine and diesel, 14 per cent; coal, 13 per cent; nuclear power, seven per cent, and pumped-storage hydro power four per cent.

"We're in good shape right now. Oil is generally in good supply at this time, but we don't know how national, international and regional events will affect this," said Brian Gosling, a spokesman for the power pool.

"All pool facilities using coal have adequate stocks to get them through the winter—there's no question about that," he added.

Gosling said that each year the demand for electricity in New York increases by about five to seven per cent over the previous year, and that his agency is forecasting a winter peak a week or so before or after Christmas of 19,400 megawatts. The last winter peak occurred on Jan. 8, 1973, at 17,600 megawatts. The 1971-72 winter peak was only 16,700 on Dec. 20, 1971.

"Our summer peak this year was almost double the peak for 1963 and based on present consumption patterns, the present load will double again in 13 years, by 1986," Gosling said.

In the next 15 years or so, he said, the pool had hoped the state would derive at much as 25 per cent of its electricity from nuclear power, but he conceded that atomic power plants face a host of objections from environmentalists.

Consolidated Edison in New York City will hold hearings this week on a request to the Public Service Commission seeking variances to use coal or higher-sulfur oil in its plants.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, NOVEMBER 12, 1973

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The reported White House plot to set fire to the esteemed Brookings Institute as a cover for an FBI burglary of its files, according to secret testimony, was no joke but a serious proposal from Charles Colson.

The former presidential trouble-shooter laughed off rumors earlier this year of a scheme to burn Brookings. When we told him about the sworn testimony we have now obtained, he dismissed it as "Disneyland East."

But the testimony was taken from no less than John Caulfield, the ex-Treasury Department aide and jack-of-all-tricks, who did undercover work for the White House. He told the Senate Watergate investigators behind closed doors that he refused to start the Brookings fire because "enough is enough."

The preposterous plot raises specters of the Reichstag fire in 1933 when Adolf Hitler's aides conspired to burn down the German parliament so it could be blamed on the Communists.

The mini-Reichstag by Nixon's aides, as detailed in a secret summary of Caulfield's testimony, was proposed "in early July of 1971." Caulfield said Colson asked him "to get some national security documents from the office of Leslie Gelb (a former defense Department official) at the Brookings Institute."

The careful Caulfield, uneasy about sneaking documents out of Gelb's office, warned Colson "of the difficulties that the project would cause because of the security questions."

Declares the document: "Colson suggested that one way of getting the information was to have the District of Columbia fire regulations changed and have the FBI respond to all arsons. Colson suggested that there could be a fire at the Brookings Institute and then the FBI could take the file out of Gelb's office."

Caulfield said he "believed that the clear implication was for (him) to start a fire there." But this was too much for the White House gumshoe. After hearing Colson's proposal, Caulfield "literally ran to (presidential counsel John) Dean's office" and said he was catching "the next plane to San Clemente because 'enough is enough.'"

DEAN'S INTEREST

Caulfield explained that Dean had also been interested in Brookings and had sought "background about its personnel and financing." Indeed, Dean may have had Brookings' tax returns "pulled... in the summer of 1971." But the Reichstag concept was also too much for Dean.

So Dean himself, rather than Caulfield, flew to San Clemente. Upon his return, Dean instructed Caulfield "to forget about Colson's project and the Brookings Institute." That was the last Caulfield "heard of the project," he testified, "until Colson brought it up at a wedding January 1973, and mentioned that he considered it a very funny joke."

Colson, in a talk with us, said "the story is Disneyland East and I have fully testified before federal investigating bodies as to the true circumstances."

Colson's friends insist he is given to overstatement in jest. He once made a joking remark, they recall, about sending in troops to close down the Washington Post presses.

FOOTNOTE: Caulfield, who did a good job as assistant director of the Treasury's Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms unit after leaving the White House, lost his job and came down with ulcers in the wake of Watergate. Now jobless, with three children to support, he answered our inquiries with a polite "no comment." Gelb told us, incidentally, that he had no classified files.

INSIDE THE WHITE HOUSE: An embattled President Nixon discussed the pros and cons of resigning with his advisors before his declared to the nation his determination to stay in the White House, if physically able, until the end of his term.

The President told his aides solemnly that he would step down if he should ever feel his leadership was hurting America. But he felt that he had greater experience and understanding than any successor to deal with the foreign policy problems now facing the nation.

The implication of his remark was that he considered it a patriotic duty to remain on the job. He felt those who are not calling for his departure simply don't understand the gravity of the international crisis.

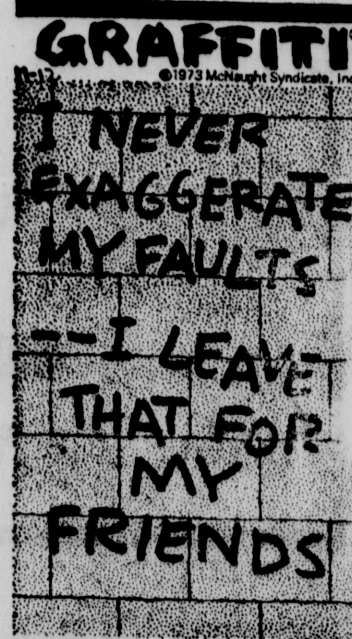

Nixon reminded aides that President Harry Truman had fought back an all-time, 23 per cent low in the polls. The American people like a fighter, said the President, who indicated he would follow this example.

He noted that the demands for his impeachment have already changed, largely, to calls for his resignation. He regards this as evidence that his foes doubt their ability to impeach him.

For him to resign, added the President, would be taken as an admission of guilt. Therefore, he intends to spend his remaining three years in office, battling, Truman-style, for his "rightful place in history."

LETTER TO BRANDT: President Nixon has written a conciliatory, secret letter to West Germany's Chancellor Willy Brandt, who had complained that the United States had ordered a worldwide alert without consulting the NATO allies and had moved military supplies from Germany to Israel at a time when West Germany was trying to maintain neutrality in the Arab-Israeli conflict.

The President promised in his letter to keep the allies more fully informed and to consult with them in the future before taking action affecting them.

New S.S.I. Payments

Newly federalized welfare payments, beginning Jan. 1, 1974, will be mailed monthly to elderly, blind, and disabled persons. Payments are limited to those who receive less than $150, or $215 for couples, from Social Security benefits, pensions, workmen's compensation, Black Lung benefits or insurance annuities. Or, also to those who have less than $1,500 or $2,250 in bank deposits, stocks or bonds.

Also, such couples must not own houses assessed at more than $25,000 ($35,000 in Alaska and Hawaii). Neither can they receive Supplemental Social Security Income if they own a car or cars valued at more than $1,200 (unless necessary in employment or for medical reasons).

After a pilot survey which is being made in areas of large elderly and poor populations, Social Security officials are preparing to "seek out 1.6 million additional potential recipients of S. S. I." Previous estimates by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare indicated that about three million persons would be added to S. S. I. rolls by next July 1, in addition to the 3.4 million now receiving welfare who will be converted automatically.

Although it is a very commendable activity for our government to be taking care of these sadly neglected citizens, we do not believe that Social Security funds, earned and set aside by workers for their elder years, should be used to supply this Supplemental Security Income for welfare rolls and for others who did not ever contribute Social Security payments. This is a benefice which the U.S. Treasury, filled from all U.S. citizens' taxes, can handle far better than can the savings of the hardworking majority.

Public Service Stars

The Fund for the City of New York made its first annual presentation of Public Service Awards to 11 men and women career employees of the city at a dinner in the Roosevelt Hotel last week. Three are singled out for their contributions because they may be examples to public service people elsewhere.

Walter A. Pavesi, the newly appointed chief of staff of the Sanitation Department, began as a $1,500 a year sanitation man in 1946. On his desk are two signs: "Talk less, say more," and "Discipline: Govern yourself and you will govern the world." They sum up the man.

A football fan, who was cited for improving production among sanitation men, he followed the late Vince Lombardi's principles of treating all members of his teams equally, and by giving pep talks about pride in their work.

Maurice (Mike) Nixon, a police community affairs specialist, said his best friend in Harlem stopped speaking to him when he was sworn into the force. He was determined to "open the door" to people who never came into the precinct until they were thrown in. He organized neighborhood sports, opened a storefront office for young people having family trouble, helped youngsters get their education.

Martha Davis, a city planning commission employee, showed communities how to push new school projects through the capital-budget bureaucracy and wrote two booklets telling community boards how best to develop new projects.

These three and the other recipients each got $5,000 tax-free—but the biggest prize was that they were appreciated. It is a good idea for any city to inspire achievement and boost morale.

TRUDEAU LIKES ACUPUNCTURE

—After a visit to Peking last month, Pierre Elliot Trudeau, Prime Minister of Canada, indicated that he had become completely sold on acupuncture and will bring Chinese doctors to Maple Leaf land, to teach Canadian doctors the technique. Most American physicians are cautious about approval.

BAGHDAD — Unprecedented strains on Iraq's relationship with its less militant neighbors, particularly Syria, and with its treaty benefactor, the Soviet Union, may be opening the way for a far more flexible Baghdad foreign and commercial policy, with important prospects for Washington.

Possibly reflecting this change, Saddam Hussain, the most resourceful and powerful figure here as vice president of the ruling Revolutionary Command Council (RCC), hinted to us in his first postwar interview with a Western reporter that a reappraisal of relations with the U.S. might be in order.

"Severance of diplomatic relations (broken during the six-day war of 1967)," he said, "should not be permanent. As a matter of fact, there are many countries with disagreements who maintain diplomatic relations."

Likewise, the suave and darkly-handsome Hussain carefully indicated that Iraq's awards of multi-million-dollar development contracts to U.S. concerns in the last few months would not be revoked (assuming the war isn't renewed).

"If America makes a bid better than others, we waste no time to make the award," he told us. "We cannot lock Iraq up in a safe."

Often viewed by the West as Arab enemy No. 1, Iraq was treated by other Arab states as a poor relation before, during and after the war of Yom Kippur. It was relentlessly ignored.

For example, despite the clear language of Article 8 in its 1972 treaty with Moscow — calling for immediate consultation in "situations... which threaten the peace of either" — the RCC had no hint from Moscow that war was imminent. Nor did it have a word of consultation on Moscow's sudden decision to try to end it with a joint U.S. ceasefire appeal.

The first public comment on the war by Iraq's tightly controlled press on Oct. 6, the day Israeli forces were attacked, was a short radio commentary calling the war just another "imperialist plot." On Sunday, Oct. 7, a key Arab diplomat here received this urgent question from the RCC: "Is this war serious?"

Inside Report

Cultivating Baghdad

On being told it was, Iraq immediately dispatched two armored brigades and part of a third division to the Syrian Mt. Hermon front on the Golan Heights. Its air force went into action both on the Syrian and Egyptian fronts.

So unprepared was Iraq that, pitifully short on tank carriers, it had to send its tanks to the Syrian front on their own treads, some 300 miles over paved roads. Carriers were borrowed from Saudi Arabia and possibly Kuwait which picked up the tanks halfway. Although Iraqi casualties in the bloody Golan Battles were extremely high, Arab diplomats here claim Iraq closed a gap on Syria's northern Golan front which blocked Israel's approach to Damascus.

When Washington and Moscow surfaced their ceasefire plan, the Iraqi foreign minister flew to Damascus and obtained Syria's secret pledge to reject it. He then flew to Algeria, obtained a pledge there of opposition to any ceasefire, and on to Libya for the same purpose. On landing in Tripoli, however, he heard over the radio that Syria had accepted the ceasefire.

That partially explains the immediate and furious Iraqi withdrawal of all its troops from Syria. As for Moscow's failure to "consult," one ranking official told us: "We have made the appropriate debit mark in Moscow's ledger."

Saddam Hussain and the Ba'athist government are now engaged in an emotional political campaign against the ceasefire, against compromise on the Israeli question and against Arab "leaders" who, in the mystical language of the secretive Ba'athist movement, have ignored the "masses" in accepting the ceasefire.

Given that hard-rock intractability, even a cursory dialogue with Washington on a political settlement of the Middle East is pointless. But beneath the intractability lurks another mood, a mood that is clearly looking toward experimentation with Washington and toward the marvels of U.S. technology.

With stupendously oil-rich Iraq a key to Moscow's veiled plans for a Moscow-controlled Asian "zone of peace," that mood is well worth cultivating, a subject for another column.

True Equality of Sexes Needed

I have supported Women's Liberation ever since I learned that, in 50 years of marriage, my father gave my mother $2 for herself each and every week. Liberation unto itself is a misnomer. It implies imprisonment or indenture. The true goal is equality between the sexes.

Sartorially, women have been bisexual for years, wearing skirts or pants. Male fashion plates such as Sinatra, Dean Martin and Senator Sam Ervin must follow Flip Wilson's lead — don miniskirts and wigs. This is not amusing. We cannot abide a one-sided equality.

Most important is that we pay women the same as men for equal work and position. If male garbage men are getting $2.50 an hour, ladies should earn as much for lifting the cans.

Husbands should do half the grocery shopping. They should also permit their tresses to grow and visit the beauty parlors once a week for a wash, color rinse and set. It may be difficult for males to listen to a dirty joke and fake shock, but they'll have to practice.

In the privacy of the boudoir, when an aggressive wife puts an arm around a husband, he should be able to moan: "I have a terrible headache." It could lift his morale to don pantyhose if the manufacturers perform a frontal lobotomy on them.

I see difficulty in converting males to being compulsive talkers because, to be accurate, they're not good listeners. An application of makeup — eye liner, lipstick, fake lashes — cannot do anything but help every truck driver in the world. It will also improve the image of policemen.

There is nothing wrong in President Nixon staging a pajama party with Henry Kissinger, Leonid Brezhnev and Mao Tse-tung. Bed gossip leads to rapprochement. They can even invite Golda Meir, who will bring the chicken soup. Growing boys who aspire to football teams should be taught to lacquer their toenails and wear hip huggers.

The exposure of navels is most important, even though both sides are look-alike. Daughters can be trained to explain the facts of life to their fathers. Helping old ladies across busy intersections will be a misdemeanor.

All women who denounce men should be called female chauvinist sows. Four days each month should be set aside for dad to become depressed. In the courtship of the young, the girls should proposition the boys 50 per cent of the time, leading up to it by explaining how empty sex is without love.

Biologically, the ladies will still have a monopoly on giving birth to babies, a joy denied to men. The muscular sex can build up his figure with silicone injections, even though it is bound to cripple big league pitchers, pass receivers and discus throwers. It may also traumatize infants who will be faked out of food. Risks must be taken. Men, abused by wives or children, must learn how to throw themselves across a bed and have a good cry.

Male virginity and ignorance will be honored at the altar. They must learn to resist female "sweet talk." At social gatherings, men will all go to the john together. The shaving of legs can be done by the barber. Ladies will learn how to change tires, mow lawns, carry bags of refuse, stop shrinking when caught in the wrong, and try to decipher north from south as they read road maps.

If there is a Women's Section in the newspaper, we need a Men's Section. The male must have a loveborn column which tells him what to suspect if the little wife goes bowling four nights a week and has no callus on the thumb. He must also be told how to cope. Coping has become a chronic problem as any White House employee can testify.

He must also be careful not to know more about any subject than his wife. This is old-hat male domination. The proper attitude is to appear to be ignorant. Let her tell you why we have a missile alert.

One more thing. Before the wife comes home from the office, the circumspect husband should bathe, don fresh makeup, wear a plunging neckline and slap a smidge of Tonight or Never behind both ears and on the pulsating wrists.

Then and then only shall the sexes attain true equality. Perhaps the only remnant of the dreary old days will be the Gents Room in all public places....

Supreme Court Lets Stand 1972 Ban on Death Penalty

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court let stand today a ruling that its 1972 decision against capital punishment voided New York State's death penalty law.

In a brief order the court rejected an appeal by Oneida County District Attorney Richard D. Enders of a ruling, 19, 1973, by the New York Court of Appeals, the state's highest tribunal.

The Court of Appeals vacated the sentence of Martin J. Fitzpatrick of Syracuse who had been convicted in 1970 of the murder of two policemen in Sheriff.

Fitzpatrick also appealed to the high court from parts of the state court decision that were adverse to him. He claimed he was questioned by police without the warnings as to his rights which the U.S. Supreme Court has required. He also said police entered his home without either a search or an arrest warrant. The court did not act on these questions.

The gist of the five-man majority's 1972 opinions on capital punishment was that as presently imposed the death penalty was the kind of "cruel and unusual punishment" forbidden in the Constitution.

Only two justices thought it should be outlawed in all circumstances. The others saw flaws in the haphazard manner in which some persons get a life sentence and others get death.

Meantime, 19 states have revived capital punishment for particular crimes.

New York's law was revised in 1965 to limit the number of capital offenses to two: murder of a peace officer in performance of his official duties and murder by a lifer in a state prison. A later amendment added the murder of a jail employee in the course of his duties.

If Christmas comes but once a year, why pay for it every week?

Good question? Well, look at it this way. If you charge Christmas gifts as a lot of people do, and spread out the payments, you're paying interest on those payments. A lot of interest, up to 18% per year. Now if you were to put away a few dollars every week in an Inter-County Christmas Savings Plan instead, we pay you interest. A full 5 1/4% interest once your balance reaches $5. And that can mean a lot more Christmas next year for you and your family. Drop into a convenient Inter-County office today and open your Christmas Savings Plan. We'll give you a handsome cut glass bowl or platter. It's just our way of saying "Season's Greetings" from Inter-County.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stock prices opened lower today on the New York Stock Exchange in continued reaction to the uncertainties of the energy crisis. Trading was fairly active.

On Friday, the market suffered its worst decline in more than 11 years, primarily due to the energy crisis and its probable ill effects on all economic sectors in the coming months and years. The Dow plunged 24.24 points to 908.41.

Early stock prices included:

'Go' Sign for Space Launch

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — With the green light on for a launch Thursday, the Skylab 3 astronauts today complete their training for a record 85-day space mission.

SkyLab program director William C. Schneider gave the go-ahead Sunday for the liftoff after assessing how crews were doing in replacing eight defective stabilizer fins on the Saturn 1B rocket.

He said the work was progressing smoothly and no additional launch postponement was necessary.

The astronauts — Gerald P. Carr, William R. Pogue and Edward G. Gibson — planned to spend several hours today in spaceship simulators at Houston's Johnson Space Center.

That will conclude their training, and they'll fly here to prepare for launch at 9:36 a.m. EST Thursday.

"The schedule, while tight, is still attainable unless some unforeseen event occurs," Schneider told newsmen.

The launch had been scheduled last Saturday but was postponed five days when hair-line cracks were found on all eight of the nine-foot-long tail fins.

Experts theorize the cracks were caused by salt air corrosion. They said the rocket might have broken up if it had been flown in that condition.

Replacement of four of the fins was completed Sunday and changeout of the other four was expected by tonight, Schneider said.

They gave directions to start the flight — they are to conduct extensive earth resources, medical and solar astronomy experiments. They'll also observe the comet Kohoutek, which will pass around the sun in late December.

Bomb Blasts in Belfast

BELFAST (UPI) — Bomb blasts erupted across Belfast today in a wave of attacks aimed mostly at Roman Catholic pubs.

Police said at least 13 persons were injured in the explosions.

Bomb-laden cars exploded near pubs in north Belfast, in the Catholic Lower Falls district, in a residential street of the Lower Falls, in the Catholic Ormeau Road, and the Catholic docks area, police said.

In addition, a bomb-laden car blocking the road between the border town of Strabane and Catholic Lavery's Bar in downtown Belfast.

A caller who gave his name as Captain White of the Ulster Freedom Fighters (UFF) telephoned newspapers and said the UFF was responsible for Sunday night that wrecked the Lavery's Bar blast.

LOSE 20 POUNDS IN TWO WEEKS!

Famous U.S. Women Ski Team Diet

During the non-snow off season the U.S. Women's Alpine Ski Team members go to the "Ski Team" diet to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. That's right — 20 pounds in 14 days! The basis of the diet is chemical food action and was devised by a famous Colorado physician especially for the U.S. Ski Team. Normal energy is maintained (very important) while reducing. You keep "full" — no starvation — because the diet is designed that way. It's a diet that is easy to follow whether you work, travel or stay at home.

This is honestly a fantastically successful diet. If it weren't the U.S. Women's Ski Team wouldn't be permitted to use it! Right? So, give yourself the same break the U.S. Ski Team gets. Lost weight the scientific, proven way. Even if you've tried all the other diets, you owe it to yourself to try the U.S. Women's Ski Team Diet. That is, if you really do want to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. Order today. Tear this out as a reminder.

Send only $3.00 ($3.25 for Rush Service) — Cash is O.K. — to: Jorma Products Co., P.O. Box 578, Cardiff-by-the-Sea, California 92007. Don't order unless you expect to lose 20 pounds in two weeks! Because that's what the Ski Team Diet will do!

Area Couples Exchange Nuptial Vows

MRS. RAYMOND B. KILMER JR.
(Karen Mary Quigley)

MRS. STEVEN VALENTINI
(Sue Merwin)

(Norman's Studio)

Quigley-Kilmer

Mr. and Mrs. John Quigley of 144 Jarrod Street, Kingston, announce the marriage of their daughter, Karen Mary, to Raymond B. Kilmer Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond B. Kilmer Sr. of 176 West Pierpoint Street, Kingston.

The Rev. Msgr. Francis P. Brennan officiated at the ceremony and celebrated the Nuptial Mass Saturday, Nov. 3 at St. Peter's Church in Kingston. Miss Kathleen Kelly, organist, accompanied Miss Eileen Reis who sang traditional wedding selections. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She selected a full length gown of polyester and cotton blend dotted swiss. The gown was fashioned with a fitted bodice, square neckline trimmed in lace, and Empire waistline, and featured a tiered skirt and leg of mutton sleeves. Her full length silk illusion veil was attached to a Juliet cap and she carried a nosegay of fall flowers and stephanotis.

Miss Michelle Scherer of Kingston was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Donna Maurer and Miss Geraldine Houghtaling, cousin of the bride, both of Kingston. Miss Patricia Quigley, sister of the bride, served as flower girl. The maid of honor and bridesmaids wore forest green printed gowns styled with Empire waistline, scooped necklines and ruffled skirts. Their Dutch-styled headpieces were trimmed with lace and they carried baskets of fall flowers. The flower girl's peach gown was similar in styling to the bride's. She wore a Dutch cap accented with lace and carried a basket of fall flowers.

Eugene Bell of Kingston was best man. Ushering were Thomas Mannello of Kingston and David Kilmer, brother of the bridegroom. Michael Kilmer, brother of the bridegroom, Kingston, served as ringbearer.

A reception was given at White Eagle Hall in Kingston.

The bride, a graduate of John A. Coleman High School and Ulster County Community College, attended State University College at New Paltz, and is employed at the New York Telephone Company in Kingston.

Her husband, an alumnus of Kingston High School, attended UCCS, and is serving with the U.S. Armed Forces in Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. Kilmer Jr. will reside in Frankfurt, Germany.

Merwin-Valentini

Sue Merwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Merwin of Shandaken, became the bride of Steve Valentini, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aldo Valentini of Shandaken, at St. Francis DeSales Church in Phoenicia. The Rev. John Gorman officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Ruth German of Shandaken, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. Attendants were Nancy Holden, Lisa Valentini, sister of the bridegroom, both of Shandaken; Mildred Wilkens of Pine Hill, sister of the bride; and Linda Rinaldo of Saugerties, sister of the bride.

The bride wore a gown of imported silk-faced satrapeau fashioned with a fitted bodice, high sheer scalloped neckline and long, full Cavalier sleeves. The draped A-line skirt was styled in a demi-bell silhouette.

Hand-clipped peau d'ange lace in floral motif and crystal pleated organza created a sheer yoke effect on the upper bodice. Similar detailing accented the skirt which terminated in a cathedral-length train. She wore a Camelot-styled headpiece of matching lace to which was shirred her triple-tiered, finger-tip length, silk illusion veil.

The honor attendant wore a gown of velvet and chiffon styled with a ruby bodice, sheer Cavalier sleeves of pale pink chiffon, and a matching A-line chiffon skirt. Ruby Venise lace braid formed the high collar, and encircled the Empire waistline. She wore a matching velvet bow and streamer detail in her hair.

The other attendants were gowned identically to the maid of honor except in burgundy velvet with pale orchid chiffon.

Robert Overton was best man. Ushers were Richard C. Merwin, brother of the bride; Terry Grant, cousin of the bride; Eric Wilkens, brother-in-law of the bride; and John Rinaldo, brother-in-law of the bride.

A reception was given at the parish hall in Phoenicia.

The bride, a graduate of Onteora Central School, is employed as a secretary at Onteora High School. Her husband, an alumnus of Onteora Central School, served in the National Guard, and is employed by Adirondack Trailways.

Mr. and Mrs. Valentini will reside at Onteora Apartments, Mt. Pleasant.

Preparing for Edition of School Newspaper

Fifth and sixth grade students at West Hurley Elementary School are busy these days preparing for the current school year's first edition of their school publication, "Hot Line."

Published for the first time back in 1970, the paper has received various awards for its excellent production. It was declared a winner the first time it was entered in the TB and Respiratory Disease Association Contest and became a winner last year, too, with its second entry.

The masthead was designed many years ago by artist John Pike, for the original Ontario P-TA News. It was the first student staff that selected the name "Hot Line."

Florence Epstein, a former New York Times employee and a teacher in the Ontario School District for 18 years, is faculty advisor for the newspaper staff. Mrs. Epstein worked for centralization when the Ontario District was made up of one and two-room schoolhouses. She earned her Bachelor of Journalism degree in Education at State University College at New Paltz.

All three of Mrs. Epstein's children are graduates of Ontario. Her husband organized and was president of the first Ontario P-TA which sponsored the P-TA News of which she served as editor.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
© 1973 by Chicago Tribune
N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I have two daughters who are pregnant and not married. One is 15, and the other is 18. The 15 year old is just entering 10th grade, and I don't want her to marry so young. I think she should finish high school first. The boy is 18, and plans on going to college. I spoke with his mother, and she said after the baby comes, if it looks like her son, MAYBE he will marry my daughter.

The 18 year old is expecting first. Her boy friend said he didn't have any plans for marriage right now because he has five more car payments to make, but when he is free and clear he will pay something toward the baby's support. Meanwhile, he hardly ever comes around anymore, but he's been seen out with other girls. My daughter is so dumb, she thinks he will marry her when he's out of debt.

Now that you have the facts, here is my question:

Do you think I should give my daughters baby showers?

UNDECIDED
DEAR UNDECIDED: It isn't proper for a close member of the family to give showers. They are usually given by friends.

CONFIDENTIAL (AND MANY THANKS) to all who wrote to inform me that the poem I was trying to track down is: "Which the Chicken, Which the Egg." And it goes like this:

"He drinks because she scolds, he thinks.

She thinks she scolds because he drinks.

And neither will admit what's true.

That he's a sot and she's a shrew."

(Ogden Nash)

And the first person to get the facts to me was Carol Ritter, the gracious, wideawake librarian of the Woonsocket, S.D., Public Library. (Woonsocket's population is 835!)

Volunteers Trained for Vision Program

Instruction of volunteers for Ulster County Pre-School Vision Screening Program was conducted by Dr. Milton Chasin, Mrs. Robert Boening and Mrs. Robert Kurzawa. The main objective of this program is to make available to the children of Ulster County area a FREE screening which may detect some difficulty that otherwise might go unnoticed and to recommend eye examinations where indicated.

This is not an eye examination. The primary aim of the screening is the detection of amblyopia or "lazy eye." This affliction is usually the consequence of one eye learning faster than the other, especially in the last stages of development. The strong eye is soon doing all the hard work, and the weak eye stops trying to learn. Unless this disparity is caught and corrected before the habits of vision grow rigid — no later than about the age six — the lazy eye will usually never learn to focus as it should. Fortunately, such vision difficulties can frequently be averted if treatment is started early.

This program is sponsored by the Ulster County Department of Health with the approval of the County Medical Society.

More volunteers are needed in other areas of the county. Those interested should contact Mrs. Boening in Kingston or Mrs. Kurzawa in Woodstock.

Rangers' GAG Line Back in Business

NEW YORK (AP) — The GAG Line's back in business — after giving the business to the New York Islanders.

"Their guns were really roaring tonight," said New York Ranger Coach Larry Poinen after watching his famous line of Rod Gilbert, Jean Ratelle and Vic Hadfield come to life in a 5-2 National Hockey League triumph Sunday night.

The three stars, who had not been up to par early this season, had their hands in three of the Ranger goals — two of them scored by a record-breaking Gilbert.

The sturdy right wing, in his 12th season, knocked in his 273rd lifetime goal in the second period to surpass Andy Bathgate on the all-time New York scoring list. Bathgate scored 272 goals from 1952 to 1964.

Later, he deposited another goal into the net for the Rangers' fifth goal of the night.

Poinen, who had mixed up the line recently in hopes of waking up the trio, was happy that he didn't change things for Sunday night's game.

"We have re-united the GAG Line," said Poinen. "I told you they'd come back. And how."

In the night's other NHL games, the Detroit Red Wings beat the Toronto Maple Leafs 5-4; the Boston Bruins stopped the Vancouver Canucks 4-2; the Philadelphia Flyers nipped the St. Louis Blues 4-3 and the Chicago Black Hawks blanked the Los Angeles Kings 3-0.

Red Wings 5, Maple Leafs 4
Guy Gabor scored three goals and Nick Libett added two, pacing Detroit to a 5-4 decision over Toronto. It was the second straight victory for Detroit since Alex Delvecchio was named coach.

Bruins 4, Canucks 2
A four-goal second period triggered by Bobby Orr and capped by Phil Esposito carried Boston to a 4-2 decision over Vancouver. Esposito, who also assisted on Orr's goal, boosted his NHL-leading total to 34 points.

Flies 4, Blues 3
Bobby Clarke and Bill Barber scored goals within a 54-second span of the first period and Philadelphia went on to a 4-3 decision over St. Louis.

Black Hawks 3, Kings 0
Goalie Tony Esposito posted his 40th career shutout and his second in the last three nights, leading Chicago over Los Angeles 3-0.

In Sunday's World Hockey Association action, it was Winnipeg 6, Los Angeles 2; Minnesota 6, Cleveland 4; Edmonton 4, Toronto 2 and Quebec 3, New England 2.

Saturday scores in the NHL: St. Louis 5, Montreal 0; New York Islanders 3, Toronto 3; Detroit 4, Minnesota 2; Buffalo 5, Los Angeles 3 and Atlanta 4, Pittsburgh 4.

Saturday's WHA scores: Edmonton 6, New England 3; New York 4, Quebec 3; Houston 8, Vancouver 3; Cleveland 4, Winnipeg 2 and Chicago 3, Toronto 2.

More Honors For Dahlia

(LAUREL, Md.) — Dahlia, probably won European Horse of the Year honors when she became the first filly to win the Washington, D.C., International. And her victory put her up for comparison with another horse of the year, Secretariat.

"She can beat Secretariat any week in any country," trainer Maurice Zilber said Saturday after Dahlia won the International for France. "I would like to see a match race."

However, Secretariat, the U.S. Triple Crown winner who was invited to the International, was retired from racing after winning the Canadian International Championship Oct. 28.

Dahlia's victory, which came with a Secretariat-like surge into the lead with a sixteenth of a mile to go, had a true international flavor. She was bred in Kentucky by her owner, Texas oilman Nelson Baker Hunt, who currently is racing 100 horses in seven countries — about 50 of them in France.

Jockey Bill Pyers is an Australian and Zilber was born in Egypt of a French father and a Turkish mother.

Hunt said Dahlia — also the only filly to win England's prestigious King George VI and Queen Elizabeth Stakes — will race again in Europe next year and then probably go to Kentucky for breeding.

There was some doubt before the race whether Dahlia was in top condition. She had suffered a swollen hock in the Prix de L'Arc de Triomphe in her last start before the International.

The doubts evaporated with a zizzling stretch run.

With about a sixteenth of a mile to go, Tentam of the United States on are rail, Scottish Rifle of England in the middle and Big Spruce of the United States on the outside were vying for the lead.

Suddenly Dahlia flashed past them on the outside and won by 3 1/4 lengths over Big Spruce, with Scottish Rifle third and Card King of France fourth.

Rare Motorcycle Victory, For Middletown Driver

WESTERVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Jim Weinert, a 22-year-old from Middletown, N. Y., has become the first United States rider to win in three years of American Motorcycle Trans-Am moto-cross competition.

Europeans had captured all of the previous 31 races. The overall titles had gone to Sylvain Geboers of Belgium in 1971 and Ake Jonsson last year.

Adolph Weil, a middle-aged West German, had dominated the 1973 series, leading the point standings with 713.

However, Weinert whipped the feared Weil at Houston last week and attributed his upset to mental toughness.

"I just kept thinkin', Adolph, you ain't nothin'," Weinert said.

"Consistent riding was what did it for me," said the young New Yorker, the son of former cycling star Albert Weinert. "I kept my head and only lost my concentration once in 80 minutes of racing."

Weinert finished third behind Weil in the first moto. In the second moto, Weil went to the

Costello Credits Bucks' Defense

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Despite the fact that Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and Oscar Robertson each scored 24 points Sunday, Milwaukee Bucks Coach Larry Costello credits his team's 12-game winning streak has been built not on offense, but defense.

"Our defense has been the most consistent factor in our streak," Costello said after the Bucks had beaten the Capital Bullets 110-91 Sunday night.

"Tonight we tried to take their fast break away and force them to shoot from outside," he said. "The Bucks strategy paid off as the Bullets were able to connect on only 33 of 100 shots while the Bucks made 46 of 85."

San Diego Team Heading for LA

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The American Basketball Association has told the owner of the ABA's hottest team to move to Los Angeles — for all intents and purposes.

The San Diego Conquistadors, winners of two straight games, may be moving to Los Angeles, as early as this season sometime, following a letter sent from ABA Commissioner Mike Storen to Q's owner Leonard Bloom.

"The letter urged Bloom to investigate the feasibility of a move," said a spokesman for Storen, "either to Los Angeles or to some other alternative. That would include the possibility of his finding something else in San Diego."

The "something else" would mean a larger arena than the San Diego State University gymnasium or the civic arena which hold less than 4,000 fans. In San Diego, only the Sports Arena would fill the bill. But the bill is too large, said Bloom, a wealthy orthodontist.

Canadian financier Peter Graham, operator of the 14,500-seat arena, would charge him $6,000 per night for the use of the place, Bloom said, even though some local college groups have obtained the arena for $1,500.

Thus the ABA's letter means only one thing to Bloom — move north.

"The league has told me to go to Los Angeles," Bloom said flatly after his team had beaten Indiana Saturday night 102-101.

Riggs to Meet Court Again

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Male chauvinist tennis star Bobby Riggs said Sunday a January rematch with Margaret Court in Australia is "all set except for the contract signing."

Riggs didn't specify a purse, but said, "I'm going to make it worth her while. She's going to win a lot of money."

Absent from the tennis courts since being beaten by Billie Jean King in their celebrated $100,000 match in the Houston Astrodome two months ago, Riggs announced the rematch during a reunion of former Davis Cuppers during the weekend.

"I felt real bad after that match," Riggs said, "and I'm just now getting over it. I don't think Billie Jean is an any better player than Margaret. I just played worse. My trouble against Billie Jean was that I was overconfident and was not prepared."

Riggs beat Mrs. Court in straight sets on Mother's Day in his first "battle of the sexes" tennis match.

"There's also a possibility I will play Rosemary Casals in Florida in February," Riggs said.

The 55-year-old Riggs played a pair of exhibition matches at the reunion and accepted an award for his former coach, Eleanor Tennant, who became the first woman tennis pro in the 1920s.

Fame Tourney

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — DePaul University, an independent power in the Midwest, will meet Brown and host Massachusetts in the semifinals of the 1973-74 National Invitation Tournament.

DePaul, which has won 10 of 11 games in the tournament, will play St. Peter's of New Jersey in opening round games of the fourth annual Hall of Fame Basketball Tournament Dec. 28-29 at the Springfield Civic Center.

DODGE SPORTSMAN WAGON.

(We're planning to make it #1 again.)

Last year, the Dodge Sportsman was the number one best seller of compact vans built in America. The year before that, it was number one as well — and this year, we plan to do it again. Here's why: Sportsman looks good, rides well, and comes with front disc brakes and Electronic Ignition, standard. It's available in the widest choice of models in the business, including Maxiwagon (seating up to 15), making it the largest compact wagon built in America. ## Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

ADVICE: (Q.) I do not see Ellen very often because I am in the Navy. We had always got along fine until my last leave. I did not like the clothes she was wearing and I told her so.

I told her they showed too much of her. Tight pants and short skirts and a bikini when we went swimming. She got mad and told me if I didn't like the way she dressed to just not come back. What can I do? I am 19. She is 18. I want her back—Sad Seaman in California.

(A.) Ellen was no doubt trying to please you by dressing as other upper teen girls dress today. Write her and apologize for being critical. Tell her you were out of line in trying to boss her around. (You were, you know.) Ask for another chance.

"COOL" GUY: (Q.) I'm in the eighth grade and like a boy in my home room. But he's in a group all the cool guys hang around with, and I'm not!

I don't know how to get to know him. Help!—Underprivileged in Mississippi.

(A.) Smile at him when you see him, and manage to be in spots where you can see him frequently.

Do not be overimpressed with what you now consider to be the "cool" crowd. They study the same subjects you do and move when the same bells ring.

Jim: "There was a time when you were known as the great exponent of psychic bidding, yet when I started to learn bridge you told me never to bid psychics. What caused you to give them up?"

Oswald: "A lot of that reputation was undeserved. I did use weak jump overcalls. In fact, I invented that bid back in 1931. They were called psychics then, but they are not by modern definition since all players at the table know just what type hand I would hold when I made a jump overcall. As for ordinary fake bids, or psychics, I gave them up for two reasons. The unimportant one was that when they worked my opponents were likely to think they had been cheated. The important reason was that they didn't work often enough to make up for the times they acted like two-headed rattlesnakes and turned around and bit me. The hand shown today was the clincher."

Jim: "There is nothing psychic about South's opening heart bid. The hand is minimum but it is a full-opening bid."

Oswald: "Yes it is. I sat North. My partner bid frequent psychics and when I looked at my 28 points I was so sure he had bid one that I simply bid four hearts. It turned out he had every missing face card and we had missed about the easiest grand slam ever seen."

Nixon Faces Watergate Questioning by GOP Congressmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, intensifying efforts to explain his side of the Watergate matter to congressional Republicans, has scheduled a half-dozen meetings with GOP legislators this week.

The meetings, disclosed Sunday by Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., and confirmed by a Nixon spokesman, are in addition to a previously planned White House breakfast with the Republican Coordinating Committee today.

Speaking on the NBC program "Meet the Press," Percy said every GOP member of Congress would attend one of the six meetings, and "at least nine hours will be spent by the President being interrogated by members of the Congress."

The White House said three meetings would be held with House Republicans and three with GOP senators. Nixon eventually will meet with some Democratic congressmen, but no schedule for that has been set, it said. Nixon had conferred with GOP leaders of Congress Friday.

A presidential spokesman said Nixon wanted "to have full and open communications" with the Republican legislators "on Watergate-related matters and on other matters as well."

The lawmakers will be able to ask questions, and such White House locations as the state dining room and the library have been chosen so as to make the atmosphere less formal than the President's office, the spokesman said.

Nixon returned to the White House Sunday afternoon after a weekend stay at his Camp David mountaintop retreat in Maryland. Aides said the President cabled congratulations to Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger on the Middle East truce agreement and gave Kissinger further instructions for his current talks in Peking.

Interviewed Sunday on the CBS network's "Face the Nation," Acting Atty. Gen. Robert H. Bork said he saw no possibility that Nixon would fire Leon Jaworski, who replaced the dismissed Archibald Cox as special Watergate prosecutor.

In other Watergate-related developments: —The Senate Watergate Committee plans to resume its public hearings Tuesday with testimony from officials of six companies involved in questioned contributions to Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign.

—A nationwide poll published in this week's issue of Time magazine indicated that 49 per cent of the American people want Nixon to remain in office, an 11 per cent drop from an August sampling. Those calling for his resignation rose from 20 to 29 per cent, while those favoring impeachment remained steady at 10 per cent. The other 12 per cent was undecided.

—An editorial published in student newspapers at 84 colleges and universities and sent to members of Congress today called for the President's removal from office. The editorial, drafted by the newspaper Amherst Student, said "the impeachment of Richard Nixon is a prerequisite to the restoration of confidence in our system of government."

Armistice Day Celebration Held Today in Some Places

By United Press International
Despite what they decided down in Washington, D.C., about Oct. 22 being Armistice Day, the folks in Albany, Ore., are going to do it right.

The Oregon Legislature decided this year that the best date to remember Nov. 11, 1918, the day World War I ended, would be Nov. 11, or as close to it as they could get, so all state offices, public schools and liquor stores will be closed today. A parade in Albany will feature 150 winners of the Congressional Medal of Honor, Bob Hope and Gen. Omar Bradley, the nation's only five-star general. Other states that honor Armistice Day on Nov. 11 are Mississippi, Wisconsin, and Louisiana, where the town of Mamou, population 1,000, has a sort of Hooray-for-Fall celebration, with rides, drinks and music.

Congress decided that Veterans Day would be the fourth Monday of October, which fell on the 22nd this year, as part of a general rejiggering of holidays designed to spread them more evenly during the year and also to make for more three-day weekends.

In Roswell, N.M., Saturday, there was a military parade sponsored by the Marine Corps, and there's a one-hour observance in Silver City, N.M., today, featuring speeches.

T. W. Marshall of Indianapolis, one of 11 surviving members of a World War I veterans "last man's club," said, "November 11th will always be our Veterans' Day."

His group held a 38th annual dinner meeting at Plainfield, Ind., Sunday. Nov. 11 is still officially Armistice Day in England, where Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip Sunday laid wreaths at the Cenotaph in London to mourn the dead of the two world wars.

Police led away two elderly women who chanted, "what about the war widows?" during the ceremony. A spokesman for the two said they were protesting the small size of the war widows' pension, which is about $25 a week.

Gas Rationing Seen Early in '74

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two of the administration's top energy officials say the nation may come to gasoline rationing early in 1974.

Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton said Sunday that chances for rationing are about "50-50."

"I think we're talking within the next two or three months," Morton said, predicting that rationing could last up to two years.

Charles Dibona, deputy White House energy adviser, said the Arab oil boycott has increased the likelihood of rationing. "I think if the present cutoff continues," he said, "the probabilities of having gas rationing before the winter is over are very high."

In other developments: —The House prepared to vote on the trans-Alaska pipeline.

—The Senate Interior Committee was working on emergency legislation, requested by President Nixon, that would include authority to order a nationwide 50 m.p.h. highway speed limit and to ease environmental requirements against use of high polluting fuels by power plants and industry.

—The House Commerce Committee planned to begin hearings this week on a nearly identical bill.

Four Dems Favor Impeachment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Four state governors, all Democrats, believe President Nixon no longer can govern and should resign. Two others are leaning toward that opinion and two say impeachment proceedings should go forward.

Nine other governors, eight of them Republicans, opposed either resignation or impeachment in a survey conducted by United Press International last week just before the President reaffirmed his determination to stay on the job.

Nineteen Democratic state chairmen favored the President's resignation and five others called for impeachment. Thirty-seven Republican state party chieftains opposed resignation, but five said the House should proceed with its impeachment investigation and either clear the President or bring charges against him.

The remainder of the governors and state party chairmen either declined comment or were unavailable to reply to three UPI questions—whether they agreed with Sen. Edward Brooke, R-Mass., that the President has lost his ability to govern and should quit; whether he should resign immediately or wait for confirmation of vice presidential nominee Gerald R. Ford; whether Congress should go ahead with impeachment proceedings if Nixon does not resign.

Democratic Govs. Kenneth Curtis of Maine, Philip W. Noel of Rhode Island, Patrick J. Lucey of Wisconsin and Arthur Link of North Dakota believe the President should resign, although Link prefers impeachment.

Except for Noel, who opposes impeachment and favors a proposal for a special presidential election, the governors believe Congress should go forward with removal proceedings, but that the Ford nomination should be dealt with first.

"The President has been rendered ineffective because of everything that happened surrounding Watergate," Noel said. "President Nixon has passed the point at which he might have been able to regain the confidence of the American people and for that reason should resign."

GOP Gov. Christopher Bond of Missouri took the other side, saying: "I don't feel there are any grounds for him to resign or for impeachment proceedings to be brought against him. He has turned over the tapes and I think the court now has an opportunity to find out what is in those tapes and the American people will very shortly know to the extent that any record is available what actually went on."

Democratic governors who opposed resignation now but did not rule it out were Jimmy Carter of Georgia and Dale Bumpers of Arkansas. Carter: "If he persists in concealing the evidence or if he is found guilty of serious crimes, he ought to resign immediately and save the nation the ordeal of impeachment."

Bumpers: "I would say the President's ability to govern has been seriously impaired." Bumpers said resignation should await a determination whether Nixon has committed "an impeachable offense."

Democratic governors who see impeachment as the best course are Calvin Rampton of Utah and Thomas P. Salmon of Vermont. Rampton said he agreed with Brooke "that Nixon has lost his ability to govern, but it could be restored if the House committee discovered no evidence to connect the President with illegal activities."

Salmon said he agreed with Sen. George Aiken, R-Vt., that Congress should either impeach the President or end the current turmoil. Opposed to resignation were Republican Govs. Bond, Ronald Reagan of California, John Vanderhoff of Colorado, Otis Bowen of Indiana, Thomas Judge of Montana, Winfield Dunn of Tennessee, Linwood Holton of Virginia and Daniel Evans of Washington. So was Democrat Milton Shapp of Pennsylvania.

The four GOP state leaders who favored congressional impeachment proceedings generally saw that course as a way to clear up matters rather than a method to remove Nixon.

West Virginia GOP Chairman Tom Potter said he thought "they should proceed with the investigation to determine if impeachment is warranted. I think that will clear the air, one way or another."

Florida GOP National Committeewoman Paula Hawkins said "I don't think that they have any grounds. But I think they should clear the air rather than have trial by sidewalk."

Confused by so many different rates? We don't blame you. Federal regulations regarding interest rates on term accounts have fluctuated widely in past months. But now, an absolute maximum has been set on the rate savings banks may pay for deposits of $1000 to $100,000 committed to terms of 4 to 7 years. And Heritage pays that maximum. Heritage also pays the highest interest rate allowed on deposits of $1000 to $100,000 committed to shorter lengths of term:

TERM	EFFECTIVE ANNUAL YIELD	GUARANTEED ANNUAL INTEREST
90 days-1 year	6%	5 3/4%
1-2 1/2 years	6.81%	6 1/4%
2 1/2-4 years	7.08%	6 3/4%

If this still seems a bit confusing, just remember two things:

1. These are the highest rates allowed by law.
2. Some banks may pay less, but not Heritage. We pay you the highest rates allowed on all accounts, including term and passbook savings accounts.
